Details: The second, dreamy electronica adventure from Norway's Current. Musik reviewed by Phil Derby at Synhtmusicdirect: "This disc slipped by me unnoticed when it was first released, but I'm glad to have recently discovered it. Current is Robert Solheim, and these 14 tracks are a cool assortment of melodic electronic music. 'Robin' is named for the little girl speaking on it, as light synths bounce around and get the disc off to a low-key but effective beginning. Punchy bass tones lend a dance sensibility to it. 'Ships In My Backyard' has a shuffling backbeat and more hip synth tones. Virtually every track is very relaxed and mellow, but even the most atmospheric tracks like 'Stellar' and 'Carpet Magic' have some kind of a beat running through them. Each piece is a gem, carefully conceived and orchestrated. 'Unknown Destination' has a steady rhythm and bright piano and could pass as a melodic Spyra track. 'Brightness' is just that, with a light sound and an upbeat mood and pace. Sparser, shorter tracks like 'Beginning To End' and 'Still Waving' are equally good, the former sounding somewhat like fellow Norwegian act Biosphere. There is an engaging playfulness and yet thoughtfulness throughout. No particular track stands out, but the sum is greater than the individual parts. Musik is a solid collection of very good melodic EM." Check out the Origo Sound websites: myspace.com/origosound cdbaby.com/all/origosound groups.yahoo.com/group/origosound
