Her release "Rhythm of Life" is proof positive that Diane's musical career is destined to soar even higher. "Rhythm of Life" was chosen as CD of the week by Atlanta's number one rock/alternative radio station 99X. Her single, "Take Me As I Am" was selected for the soundtrack of feature film "Ready, Willing and Able." Diane's song "Blue Eyed Soul" was included on the Taxim/Warner Brothers' release "Peach State Blues," a compilation showcasing a new generation of American artists. "Rhythm of Life" exemplifies the full range of Diane's considerable talents, not only as a songwriter and singer, but as a producer as well. Blending elements of pop, rock and soul, Diane earns the media quotes that have compared her delivery to everything from the emotional rawness of Janis Joplin to the soulful sounds of Aretha Franklin to the feistiness of Tina Turner. Born in Murray, Kentucky, Diane moved to Atlanta during childhood, where she got her start in music within the church. From those gospel roots blossomed the enigmatic performer Diane is today. While paying her dues in local music venues, Diane earned a degree in journalism from Georgia State University. Yet, in spite of her move to the metropolitan arena, she remains grounded, reflecting a down-to-earth attitude about life as well as music, donating her talents to raise funds for cancer survivors and AIDS foundations. Press Quotes: "She's been compared to everyone from Gladys Knight to Janis Joplin, from Aretha Franklin to Melissa Etheridge. But if the truth be known, there is only one Diane Durrett, and her brand of soulful music is more than capable of standing alone. The rapidly rising star is wowing big names in the industry with her bluesy, brassy, belt-it-from-the-depths delivery, and her original tracks are quickly becoming new soul favorites." -Creative Loafing, Greenville/Spartanburg, SC "If you can look past the pretty face, you'll catch the passion of soul music, the pain of the blues and the grit of R B, rolled into one big blast of energy." -Brevis, Dhattanooga, TN "Singer/songwriter Diane Durrett has the cheekiness to title one of her songs "Blue Eyed Soul." But she earns the right on her album "Rhythm of Life," with such songs as the unabashedly funky "Don't That Bring You Back?" (complete with Stevie Wonder-style electric piano and the bluesy, gospelish "Sweet Savin' Grace," which combines the drama of a Sarah McLachlan song with Durrett's torchy, velvety delivery." -The Tennessean, Nashville, TN
