He began singing in his local church at the age of 13 where he was informed that the congregation was enjoying his voice so much that entertaining became second nature. Robert began to play drums with some local bands through the age of 20, and his love for country music gave him the resolve to teach himself how to play the guitar which in turn allowed him to begin his creative writing, putting words to his music. Recording in the studio gave Robert the chance to express himself in many ways; his multi talents allowed him to play most of the instruments on his CD. When the CD was recorded a tremendous thing occurred; one of his songs Titled "You're My American Hero"was heard by a reporter from NBC 30 News. The reporter contacted Robert to do a news story about him and You're My American Hero. This news story began the run of 5 more TV interviews that have occurred, helping to launch his music career. This lead to the thrill of a lifetime for Robert, and making him the first too ever entertain at the Connecticut State Capital in the Lawmaker's Chambers. Robert's appearance at the Connecticut State capitol opened many new avenues for his music. The capitol event leading up to, and after put Robert in all the Connecticut newspapers, some articles becoming front-page news. The Capitol performance story was also picked up by MSNBC, and spawned several appearances on Talk radio WICC AM 600 in Bridgeport, Connecticut. "You're My American Hero" has been getting played on multiple Internet based country stations with requests daily with an ever-increasing fan base. Robert also has two consistent first place awards in New Artist Contests. Beginning to become increasingly popular, the Independent A R Company Taxi has written an article for their monthly newsletter about Robert's Music. Robert is also a husband and a father of three children, one of which is now singing backup on Robert's soon to be released debut CD. A career in music would keep anyone busy, but Robert Allen Mycko is a believer in the community, is a Volunteer Firefighter, and also serves on the Inland Wet Lands Committee, which was a position he was proud to be appointed to by the mayor of his home town. Roberts music has been influenced by artists such as Tom Petty, Johnny Cash, Kris Kristofferson, Waylon Jennings, Willie Nelson, and Garth Brooks. He knows how to have a good time, usually being the life of the party. Robert is a very goal-orientated, organized, hard working individual who likes to be in charge of his own destiny.
