Details: For your listening pleasure that leaves everything to the imagination! I've been experimenting with music since I was 8 or 9 years old. I've been focused on minimalist acoustic music since around 1997. I've done everything from hard metal to the sounds you may be listening to now. Some career highlights include the Main Stage at the Oregon Country Fair in 2001 and The Experience Music Project / Northwest Folklife Festival in 2002. "Homegrown" is two albums worth of music. First, it is a rearranged, rewritten and rerecorded version of a record I did in 2000 called "Transmissions". Secondly, it is a collection of 13 more songs written over the past decade. It is primarily centered on the acoustic guitar with occasional accompaniment, some vocals and some other toys. It was done entirely (aside from a little mastering help) in home, by myself, in a very very very modest set up, thus the title "Homegrown". Thank you so much for your interest and ear. -Marcus
