We'd like to know what people feel about the music for future references. Thank You The Locomotive Staff (Now on to the bio:) FH1 While in the early stages of his career, this talented emcee out of Central Jersey was dubbed Funky Hobo #1 by legendary funkster Khalis Bayyan (of Kool The Gang fame) due to his logo and lyrics representing for the 'broke asses" as opposed to those boasting about "bling". Now, his supporters have abbreviated that to FH1 and many added "The Underdog" and "The Best Kept Secret" as his a.k.a. due to some of his other lyrical content and coming from Central Jersey which FH1 calls "The Equator" and "The Land of the Overlooked". With the help of producers JSIII, Luis "Luie G." Galan, DJ Skills, Skeem, and BE-LIFE. Plus guest artists such as DIRTY, $eddrick Na$h, and D-Fieldz (all from "The Equator") has been working toward completing his album, "...Come Follow Me...". This artist's diverse solo debut single, "IT'S A WRAP (BYE, BYE)" b/w "YOU DON'T KNOW ME" and "MOVE IT LIKE A SNAKE", is undeniably a must for your listening pleasure. The songs on this CD were not approved by A&R "experts", but were approved by ordinary hip-hop/ music fans like you right off the street and online. Our feedback indicated that these three songs showed FH1's diversity because of the three different musical vibes on the tracks; the commercial/R&B-ish vibe, the Hip-Hop vibe, and Reggae vibe. As well as showing his lyrical and style diversity. Also with several mix tape performances under his belt, 15+ tracks recorded for consideration on the album, an abundance of CDs sold out of trunk, and given away to further the buzz ("reppin' for broke-asses" like himself). Not to mention being favorable to excellent on/offline reviews/feedback. The calls of interest from radio, and the "majors" have started. Hopefully real soon, someone is going to have a MEGASTAR in their organization, So support ya boy and tell everyone ya know to cop FH1. He is destined to be the next big name in the game and YOUR SUPPORT WILL NEVER BE FORGOTTEN! Request FH1 from your favorite radio station now!! For more info. on FH1(a.k.a.
