jazzy blues rock with a psychedelic twist 11 MP3 Songs ROCK: Psychedelic, BLUES: Funky Blues

Details: This is a live unrehearsed performance recorded with some of Key's favorite musicians before a gathering of people under a large copper pyramid during the new moon in Santa Fe New Mexico. The story goes Key had taken some solo gigs to try out new material. Michael Kott, the cellist, showed up sat in. It sounded great. The next night Mark Clark brought in his percussion. Everyone was blown away said 'you should record this' So they did. All wooden instruments were used to create the earthy tonality in this live performance. There are no recording overdubs on the guitar, vocals, percussion, and cello. (bass was added later) The trio consisted of Mark Clark on congas, kick-drum, cajon. Michael Kott on cello (bow bass) and Key Frances on an old harmony guitar vocals. They played one gig together as a band with no rehearsal came together recorded what you hear. "This album stands head and shoulders above any live recording from the last five years...the music will take you places you didn't even know existed...one hell of a thrill ride" - The Inside Connection Music Magazine, New York June 2004
