Details: On the eve of the release of Dumb Angel's new album, I Woke Up This Morning, Somnambulist Sound System is pleased to announce the re-issue of Dumb Angel's debut, 2006's Ghost Dance. Originally released and produced independently by Dumb Angels Shaun Mason, Ghost Dance exceeded all expectations by the artist in garnering glowing reviews, receiving a great deal of international attention and charting extensively on Canadian community radio. Recorded slowly and meticulously by Mason over the course of one long Saskatchewan winter, and mixed by Mason and Carbon Dating Service's Steve Reed, Ghost Dance is a collection of 10 quiet, sprawling songs that explore the meaning of self in place in a strange and confusing world. Mason's droning, melodic finger-picked acoustic guitar, layered vocal harmonies and delicate glockenspiel characterize this beautiful, gently cathartic album that has "captured a mix of subtlety, thoughtfulness and melody that allows him to...elevate his music to a higher plane of existence."
