Acoustic blues that gets back to the roots of the Piedmont area and the Delta, and doesn't forget ragtime. 14 MP3 Songs BLUES: Acoustic Blues, BLUES: Delta Style Details: Ed Teja has been playing fingerstyle acoustic guitar since the turbulent 60s, when he began his career in coffeehouses on the East coast of the US. Since then he has appeared in venues in California, Seattle, Boston, Hong Kong, Venezuela, St. Martin (French West Indies) and Texas. Although he hasn't always made his living from his playing, he has kept gigging. He spent seven years playing at Caribbean waterfront bars, resorts and restaurants where he met T-Bone Fisher, who had studied with Brownie McGhee. Working together they they studied the techniques of Mance Lipscomb, Blind Blake, Big Bill Broonzy, Blind Boy Fuller and others. They started a blues festival in Venezuela that lasted for three years, becoming a major tourist attraction in the area. Working with Austin-based harpist Jim Luke he toured Canada, appearing on TV Ontario in Sept of 2002. In 2003 he opened the acoustic day of the Silver City Blues Festival. He is now based in new Mexico working venues throughout the Southwest.
