Ben Suchy's 4th solo album showcasing some great blues/folk with a touch of pop. Just push play - the album will do the rest. 12 MP3 Songs FOLK: Folk Blues, FOLK: Folk Pop Details: The music of Ben Suchy (pronounced 'sue key') is a mixture of Blues and Folk. His Blues sways more towards a Delta style where his Folk is more contemporary and sometimes highlighted with a touch of pop. This is best exemplified on his new album "Head For Home", released in August of 2004. Through 12 original tracks, Suchy's fourth solo album (following "Grapefruit Wine" 2002) displays the nobilities of his lap-slide, finger-picking, vocal, and harmonica skills, not to mention his lyrical depth and imagination. His style is an integration of past with present - old with new. Ben Suchy's music is simple yet compelling. Hailing from the upper Midwest, Suchy's North Dakota roots found him traveling the U.S. and Canada at an early age with his musical family. Today Suchy mostly performs solo or with complimenting textures of bass and drum. He has opened for such elites as David Lindley and Wally Ingram, Ben Taylor Band, Donna the Buffalo, and Dave Moore. 2004 Highlights have been appearances at both the Shakori Hills Grassroots Festival in Silk Hope, NC and the Fingerlakes Grassroots Festival in Trumansburg, NY. From Southern Florida to Northern Washington Suchy continues to spread his exceptional music.
