Details: Will Tell formed initially in 2005 as a celtic music project. Ellen and I (Steven) got to talking, discovered we both had a love for celtic and newgrass music, and decided to try and bring new life to old world music. What followed was a roller coaster ride that neither of us expected. Since then, we have added Jeff (guitar), Evan (drums), Robby (elec. guitar) and Ben (bass) to the band for a new and addictive sound. While we still incorporate celtic and newgrass elements, Will Tell has branched out and now features more roots, blues, and rock elements as well. It has been a challenge to try and identify this style, but it is unique and really pays homage to the music of the past. Our brand new record "Nobody" really captures this idea, so check it out! While much of our music is instrumental, we have been writing more and more vocal music, which is awesome as four of us are vocalists in the band. As we mature both individually and as a band, I have seen our music get more and more creative, fun, inventive and professional. The direction this band is taking is opening many doors every day and giving us countless blessings and opportunities. We invite you to join us on our musical journey through our shows, our music, and our message. Will Tell
