Details: Emma Hill is a 21 year old singer songwriter living in Portland Oregon. Emma began crafting her personal flavor of Folk in the small Alaskan village she grew up in. After moving to Palmer for High School, Emma quickly became a staple of the budding Alaskan music scene, bringing her rurally influenced stylings to Anchorage. Emma sang with the group Blackbird Productions and as half of the folk duo Pennies and Patches garnering a large local recognition. In 2006 Pennies and Patches went on hiatus, and Emma found herself in Portland, Oregon and began writing more personal solo material. In 2007 Emma recorded and released her first full length album Just Me on Kuskokwim records. Just Me showcased her wide vocal range as well as her eclectic musical taste while staying in the realm of folk/Americana. Emma toured extensively to support the album throughout the west coast as well as a national tour. The album also received regular radio play on college and independent radio stations. Just Me reached 8 on the KRUA Anchorage album charts. In 2008 Emma recorded her second album Clumsy Seduction. Emma maintains her strong folk/Americana roots while telling beautiful stories and unbelievably catchy melodies. Emma has always been commended for singing with a maturity beyond her years, on Clumsy Seduction she goes above and beyond; both in her voice and her songwriting. With full instrumentation and her signature songwriting style, Clumsy Seduction is the culmination of an artist on the brink. Emma has successfully come into her own solidifying her status within the Folk community as an Artist to know in 2009. Fans of her old material will be ecstatic, while new listeners will fall in love fast. The proof is in the album: Emma is one of the best young singer songwriters in the nation. Emma will be on a 8 week national tour this summer with a full band in support of Clumsy Seduction.
