Details: Bio of PETEY MOE There's a common misconception that as an independent artist, you are inferior without the backing of a major label. You aren't supposed to be able to garner enough attention to gain shouts from Lamar Woodley and Anthony Roberson during an BET 106th episode, or be able to move 25,000 units of your product. One man has done all this and more. Meet the accomplished Petey Moe who is running the game with his master plan, working as a major without a deal. Born and raised in Saginaw, Michigan, Petey Moe has always had an eye to the future while laying the foundation to climb the ladder of success. Pratt's first love has always been art. But, when his artist dream did not materialize, he realized that he had to make money to become his own man. As is with most hoods Biggie described, either you're slinging crack rock or got a wicked jump shot. Petey Moe began to hustle. However, instead of achieving his champagne wishes by squandering his money, he saved enough money to create AL P. RECORDS in 2000 to pursue his other love, singing and rapping. Next, Petey Moe began to circulate his music by hitting DJs and strip clubs to make sure his music was heard in the streets. He garnered such a buzz that the talented Andrea Pratt, mother of Petey Moe and owner of AL P. RECORDS, took notice. In 2002, Petey Moe became an official resident in the AL P. RECORDS home and signed to the label. The partnership has been blazing lanes ever since under the Petey Moe's motto: aint nuthin to it but to do it. With the work he's put in, his future is brighter than a diamond-filled smile in the sunshine. He has dropped two albums on AL P. RECORDS: Going Digital and Welcome to the Circus. The latter contains a high quality video of his latest single, HEY GIRL. They've already netted Petey Moe over 25,000 units sold independently! Keep in mind that these are sales due to word of mouth, not through video and radio promotions. His next album, going digital, is slated for a feb. release, while welcome 2da circus is due out on july 03. Fans anxious for the heralded my room album will have to wait until he achieves his goal of signing to a major. With all of his successes, what is he waiting for until he signs? There is a certain amount he feels he deserves. Major [labels] will respect your hustle and will give you more when they see you grinding. Choosers pay. If you choose, you have to pay. Its different if you approach them rather than be approached because they know that you have value and will make their money back. But, until that day, Im trying to be the first indie artist on the cover of The Source. I want to be on 106 Park as an indie. If I keep grinding and building a buzz, I know good things will happen. I dont need to be on a major to get all of that. I want to show that you can do this as an indie. In the meantime, he is perhaps the most accessible artist in the industry. Feel free to reach out to him on his personal number 313-244-1235, or contact him at myspace.com/peteymoemusic. Plus, you can always visit his site peteymoefor for the latest gear from his clothing line, the airbrush Collection, or hear his newest tracks. But if you must find him, be patient. This mighihgander has already performed in California, Nebraska, Florida, Mississippi, Colorado, Oklahoma, Louisiana, Missouri, Arkansas, and headed your way soon. And just when you thought the grind was done, you can check petey moe in his new feature movie toe sag city 2003 AL P. RECORDS myspace.com/peteymoemusic
