Details: Acoustic based pop music with intelligent and insightful lyrics, and creative musical arrangements that delight the listener with memorable melodic and instrumental hooks. While Web Burrell's name is familiar to musicians, producers, and songwriters in the Los Angeles, New York, and Washington areas, this CD is the first time that a wider audience will have the opportunity to become familiar with his talent. As a studio musician and producer, he has collaborated with Waddy Wachtel, Gary Usher, Keith Olsen, Andy Newmark, Curt Boetcher, The Subdudes and Randy Bachman to name a few. His musicianship and original songs have been recorded and released internationally, garnering rave reviews in Rolling Stone, and an award from Billboard. "The Usual Suspect" is Web Burrell's first solo release that features his skills as a singer, songwriter, and multi-instrumentalist, and reflects his experience with a diverse variety of musical genres. Subject matter and musical influences cover a broad range on this collection. From the exhilaration of the open road as depicted in the bluesy "Black Cadillac", to the first-person depiction of the devastation of life following the flooding of the Mississippi River in the driving beat of "Hold Back The Water". From the steel drums and percussion of the beach lover's dream life in "Tahiti", to the country influenced acoustic guitar work on "You've Got It Good" (And I Want You Bad). The overall mood of the album reflects a positive outlook, with songs like "Starting Up", which celebrates the excitement of embarking on a new direction in life, and "Good To Go", a Jimmy Reed style blues groove that reassures an uncertain lover. There are also two instrumentals from this one-man band -- a jazz-styled swing composition entitled "Just Passing Through", and "Wintermute", a slow-driving, moody keyboard textured piece. Two romantic ballads, "You Bring Out The Best In Me", and "The One" are poised to become part of the standard repertoire at weddings. Web has performed at the Grand Old Opry, the New Orleans Jazz Heritage Festival, and on The Nashville Network. He is a voting member of NARAS.
