Details: Jonathan Martin Wright was born August 30, 1985, in Honolulu, Hawaii. His dad was in the service until he was 5, before leaving the service and finding a job in Canton, Ohio. The past 17 years of his life have been spent in Canton. Mr. Wright started singing and writing his own songs at 15. Anyone who has followed on his path to success will give testimony on his individualism. Mr. Wright was not into hip hop until the age of 18, he was just one of those heads that thought rap was just someone talking over the beat. Once fully introduced to how powerful music really is and how precious the hip hop word is, he pursued combining the two into his own repertoire. After a few tracks had been recorded by himself, he caught the ear of local producer Ian "Conz" Weir. His first solo single, "We Get It" produced by Conz caught the ears of Duce Block Entertainment. After talks contract negotiations were in play. Now working with Mike "Big Balls" Owens, Mr. Wright has the professional touch he has been longing for. Crawling out from underground and climbing the ladder of success. I would like to give special thanks first off to God for blessing me with my talent, to the whole Duce Block Ent. crew including all of our affiliates, Quincy Taylor, Tony Harbert, Mike "Big Balls" Owens, Dwayne "Afro Guerrilla" Seymour, Ian "Conz" Weir. I would also like to thank my parents for showing me how a good man should live and making me earn everything that I have had so far in life. I appreciate you all.
