Soulful vocals accompanied by some very live acoustic tracks with a country/blues/folk style with humor, tears and some cool harmonica, slide guitar and cello. 17 MP3 Songs FOLK: Folk Blues, COUNTRY: Country Pop Details: "Sean Wiggins, a centered and attention-grabbing, blue eyed, soul diva", is how she's been described, but there's much more. As an artist, Wiggins is making waves! Sean was first place winner in the Billboard Song Contest, 2002, for her song, "No Difference". She also has a song, "Jane and the Goats", which is currently featured on the critically acclaimed and award winning indie film, "God, Sex, and Apple Pie". In addition, in January 2002, Wiggins song styling was featured on MTV's hit night drama, "MTV Undressed". Sean has been touring the country in support of her last 2 solo releases, "1000 Steps" and "Next Time Around", sharing the bill with such artists as Cyndy Lauper, Sophie B Hawkins, Jill Sobule, Pepper Mashay, Billie Myers, Patrice Pike, Melissa Ferrick, and Julia Fordham. She has performed in large music festivals such as Chicago's Market Days, which hosts 350,000 people, along with clubs and festivals in New York City, Atlanta, Seattle, San Francisco, Baltimore, Boston and many more. Of course she has played venues all over Southern California, including clubs such as The Roxy, The Gig and The Troubadour. Wiggins has graced the stage of the Houston Women's Festival for 2 years in a row, Eddies Attic in Atlanta, and often returns to the Windy City with Linda Moss (harmonica) to play such clubs as The Hard Rock Caf and The House of Blues, along with other local venues. In New York City, she has even played the renowned CBGB's Gallery. Sean has been playing colleges all over Southern Cal and has received local and national radio play as well as international and national Internet play. She has been featured on various cable shows all over Southern California, as well as all over the New York City area. She is currently selling CDs through Borders Books, Goldenrod Music, Amazon and Cdbaby.com. Recent reviews of Sean's latest CD said: "Apparently someone got a bit experimental in the chem lab and mixed the DNA of Janis Joplin and Melissa Etheridge." - Jennifer Layton, Indie-Music.com

Music Connection said, "Wiggins could easily be misidentified as a simple singer/songwriter, but what she does is so much more. She actually takes you into her world and makes you feel right at home... never predictable or boring." Album Network says, " Sean Wiggins, whose powerful vocals easily recall the best qualities of Janis Joplin, Melissa Etheridge and Sass Jordan..." "Wiggins offers up a delicious collection of beautiful and bittersweet songs on "Next Time Around." Inspired by past relationships, Wiggins delivers her poetic message of life, love and heartbreak in her lovely soulful vocal style complimented by her incredible guitar playing." - Deborah Keith, GoGirlsMusic.com
