Our goal is to harvest a cross-section of denominational and ethnic personalities bridging the gap through the impartation of a practical expression-'the love of 'God' for the redemption of souls through music ministry. These are but some of the goals of the Turks and Caicos Mass Choir, founded on January 11, 1997 by Shaun Malcolm and Craig Archibold whose initiation attracted sixty (60) angelic voices in pursuit of proclaiming the 'good news' 'the gospel' in song to the Turks and Caicos communities and indeed the world. Shaun, who serves as the choir's Executive Director, Craig as Musical Director and aboard of directors including Ruth Ariza, Dwaine Taylor, Delma Harvey and Carol Mills to organize the cross-denominational choir with representation from six of the eight inhabited islands in the Turks and Caicos chain. Besides blending soprano, alto, tenor and base vocalist and instruments of seven musicians to create glorious music, the choir serves as a catalyst to develop the talents of the country's youth through disciplinary vocal and ensemble training strategies. With an enduring desire, dedication and commitment the TCMC has attain a high degree of professionalism inspiring others organizations to give their utmost consideration to the aforementioned disciplines when pursuing music ministry. Given the geographical layout of the Turks and Caicos Islands, the choir has two functioning chapters on two separate islands, (Grand Turk and Providenciales-68 miles apart). In an effect to cultivate melodious harmonies, the Musical Director orchestrates rehearsals twice weekly on each island duplication the use of contemporary gospel recording and original composition and arrangements. It is inevitable that separate rehearsals are staged, however, when the entire choir assembles to minister, all are on the same wavelength.
