The Buffalo based band receives local coverage from radio stations WBFO FM and WBNY FM. Regional airplay includes Rochester, Syracuse, and Erie PA. In 2004 Danny had three songs selected for the independent film Saving Newburgh, directed by Merle Becker. Beckers other work includes MTVs Beavis and Butthead, Liquid Television and Cartoon Sushi. Merle has also done work for NBC, VH1, AOL, Bravo, and the Independent Film Channel. Musician Magazine put the Danny Lynn Wilson Band in their top 100 unsigned band list for 1996. The band swept The Buffalo Music Awards in 1996 with Best Blues Band (96-98), Best Blues Guitarist (96), and Best Blues Vocalist (96-97, and 99.) The Artvoice Magazine Original Music Awards paid a similar tribute to the band with seven nominations and awarded the band with Best Original Guitarist. The Danny Lynn Wilson Band has been selected to play numerous national showcases including Crossroads in Memphis, Cutting Edge in New Orleans, Undercurrents in Cleveland, North by Northeast in Toronto, and CMJ in New York City. While in Memphis playing at B.B. Kings nightclub on Beale Street the band caught the attention of Leo Tater Red Allred who has a syndicated blues show which airs in eight states. Since that time the band has been on Tater Reds blues spotlight and is receiving airplay on the Tater Red Blues Show. The Danny Lynn Wilson Band has performed at such venues as the New York State Blues Festival as well as other regional musical festivals throughout New York and northeastern United States. The group has performed more than two hundred performances every year between 1993 and 2000. Live performing is a passion for Danny Lynn Wilson.

When not performing with the band, this singer songwriter is playing colleges and coffeehouses from Buffalo to Baton Rouge. As a solo performer he has open for such acts as Rusted Root and NRBQ.
