THE ONE HE MADE BEFORE HE HIT THE BIG TIME. ONLY A LIMITED AMOUNT LEFT!!! Disheveled is a fictional rock band formed by journeyman bassist Jim Mason. After accepting a scholarship to play upright bass at the University of Cincinnati, Jim would go on to play bass with anybody and anything, including a 5 year stint with Robin Lacy Dezydeco, as well as numerous local jazz artists. In 1997 Jim decided to retire from the gig scene and move to the country. Although it wasn't his intention to get involved with music again, songs would come to him so he decided to record them. Jim asked his old Cincinnati buddies to help him with the recording, including Ricky Nye and Brian Lovely, and so Disheveled was born and the album was completed in the year 2000. The picture on the front and back cover of Jim's c.d. were taken in southern Ashland county in Ohio, where he lived in an abandoned farm house for two years (The inspiration for the song "Ashland"). What was the most exciting thing he saw while he lived there?: an amish buggy weaving down the road while blearing Van Halen's "drop dead legs" from a boom box. (are they allowed to do that?) - FEATURING THE MEGA HIT GETTIN' FAT - ALL C.D.'S PROFESSIONALLY MANUFACTURED AND REPRODUCED AT QCA
