Eddie Ramirez has been, for over a decade now, considered one of the premier bass players in the Northwest. In that time he has established himself as a recognized worship leader, producer, and songwriter. Eddie's musical roots reach back to age 10, when he began playing bass guitar in a band with his brothers. They grew up playing music together and went on to record and tour extensively throughout the United States and Mexico under the names of "Abarim," and "Thee Image." After moving to Spokane, WA in 1991, Eddie began working as a producer, session bassist for local recording studios. He also played and led worship at his church, and in 1998, became the director of worship at Harvest Christian Fellowship. In 2000, Eddie began traveling and playing bass for Israel Houghton New Breed, and went on to produce a Spanish worship album for Israel entitled "Nueva Generacion", which was released internationally by Integrity Music. While Eddie's musicianship and production abilities have garnered him attention throughout the United States, Mexico, and South America, he is now focusing his abilities on promoting his first full-length solo album, entitled "INFINITE". This unique project weaves together Eddie's diverse range of styles and musical influences. The lyrics are simple and down-to-earth, yet they carry a spiritual, constant, and worshipful tone that gives the album an uncommon depth. Eddie continues to travel the U.S. and Mexico regularly as a producer, musician, worship leader, and as a solo artist.
