Personal lyrics blended with real emotion, delivered through the rich sound of acoustic and electric guitars. 10 MP3 Songs ROCK: Modern Rock, GOSPEL: Contemporary Gospel Details: Comparable to Michelle Branch on some tracks, Evanescence on others, and a unique and original sound all of her own on still others, Adriana Lycette displays her talent musically, vocally, and lyrically with her self-titled debut album. After only a few verses it becomes clear to listeners that Adriana Lycette pours her soul into each and every word, offering rare and unique insight into everyday life. Blessed with some astounding gifts Adriana began singing and writing music in grade school, then lyrics in junior high, and began teaching herself guitar in her freshman year of high school. Now, at age 19, she captivates audiences with her abilities. "They say music is the universal language, hopefully I can connect with the people and they can connect with me," expresses Adriana. Most impressive of all, each lyric sung comes through with genuine feeling, as a personal story lies behind every track. "she calls out" offers a rare release as listeners can relate to the heart of a youth facing the struggles of life in the present, regrets from the past, and uncertainties of the future. "rescue me" blends the Adriana's original style of with the gritty rap of Dave "Phunkee" Vogrinc to form a mosaic image of desperation and salvation. Finally, the soft piano playing and passionate lyrics found in the final cut of the CD, "goodbye," speaks to the heart of anyone who's ever had to say those words but never wanted to. In short, this album provides yet another good reason to be thankful there's a repeat button the CD player. -Scott Karalis
