"Amy Greco is a fresh new presence on Baltimore's singer/songwriter scene. Her new album, Home, reveals that she is a very talented and descriptive songwriter with a gift for writing great pop songs about love, life and relationships..."Random Drive-By" [is] a beautiful acoustic song that brings to mind the best ballads of folk-rock musicians like Lori Carson." -Greg Yost, Music Monthly (June, 2006). Amy Greco, a New Jersey native, started singing along to her favorite video tapes at around two years old. Ten years later, she had already established herself in regional and community musical theater when she started learning how to play guitar. Recently, Amy has been playing at coffeehouses and bars throughout New Jersey and the greater Baltimore area (including Cleo's Internet Caf, the Recher Theatre, the Funk Box, the WestSide Caf and the Judge's Bench), and composes her own folk, jazz, and rock songs; the release of her debut album Home has just been released on Ringworm Records. Whether you're looking for songs to perk you up in the morning, get you through the working hours or to help you unwind at day's end, Amy Greco writes music that loves you back.
