Technically proficient, Lyric-driven, "Groove" Rock ...moves your body and your soul...created by two guys who've lived enough to know better. If King David had played an electric guitar, this would have been his band. 14 MP3 Songs ROCK: Classic Rock, ROCK: Math Rock Details: The Project: CRY OF DAVID was a demo project started by two guys with very diverse backgrounds. It began as a process to simply hear what the music sounded like. It became an end unto itself because the emotional satisfaction of the recording process became inspirational. Jeff Weatherman is the guitarist and songwriter who comes from a deeply religious perspective. George Merriman is the drummer and lyricist who is a scientist and physician by training and a cynic by nature. The music is the common ground found in the synergy generated by bringing together these two worlds. These two Southern boys, who musically "came of age" in the 70's, have maintained a passionate love of music and musicianship while following other life paths. This full life experience brings a depth and maturity to the music and the lyrics that will move you body and your soul. "Songs from East Wilderness:" Jeff and George had met in 1992 because of business relationships and had collaborated musically for some live performances. Their life paths diverged for several years until Jeff's former band, Under The Son, needed a new drummer to play at the Red River Revel in 2002. This experience reawakened their friendship and collaboration. This energy is expressed as "Songs from East Wilderness." Each song has a message. Each message is based on real life experiences. The underlying philosophy behind the message and the music is the strongly held belief that there is more to this world than the individual. The philosophy is expressed in overtly Christian themes at times and in purely secular spirituality in others, which reflects the dynamic balance between the two artists. The Guys: Jeff Weatherman - 43, husband of 12 years to Mary Jane and father to Rachael (10). Jeff has lived in Shreveport, LA for 14 years. He grew up in San Antonio, TX and graduated from UT

San Antonio with a Bachelor of Applied Science. Jeff sells medical devices. He has been singing and playing guitar since 1970. Jeff played in a top 40 band Fahrenheit that toured the south Texas area during the 80's. He began pursuing his passion for Christian rock in the mid 90's. George Merriman - 45, husband of 18 years to Katy and father of daughter, Sydney (13) and son, Max (10). George has lived in Shreveport, LA for 18 years altogether including his high school years when he attended Jesuit High School (now Loyola). George attended SMU and received a degree in Chemistry then went on to the UAB for medical school and residency in surgery. He is practicing general surgeon in Shreveport with a specialty in Bariatric Surgery with Surgical Specialists of Shreveport, LLC. George began drum lessons in 1972 and has pursued his passion for music and performance since then. Quotes from the Artists: Jeff Weatherman - "There is a hunger for something bigger than ourselves right now-this music taps into that." "Good music moves you emotionally--that's what I go for--some sort of reaction." George Merriman - "This is the way I can express what I am really thinking and what I am actually feeling, in the method that I love most - music." "There is an infinite chasm between being the instrument of God the way one understands him and playing God. The world today seems to want us to forget that." Thanks for listening.
