Details: Big Bad Zero Nick Mattera - lead vocals, guitar Dave Meeks - guitar, vocals Rob Whited - drums, vocals True Maudsley - bass, vocals Founded in 1996, Big Bad Zero, a Las Vegas based power pop rock act knew from the downbeat what they wanted to achieve with this project. Their goal was to create great music, develop a unique image, forge credible industry contacts, and build a loyal nationwide fan base, all of which would help lead them to undeniable success in the music industry. The band's "nose to the grindstone" work ethic caught the attention of veteran producer/engineer Michael Sak (Goo Goo Dolls, Ani DiFranco, 10,000 Maniacs). With Sak, the band recorded an albums worth of carefully crafted songs complete with infectious hooks, emotionally stirring melodies, and thought provoking lyrics. These songs were later released nationally on Eureka Records and distributed by the Universal Music Group. Two of the three singles released to radio charted in R&R magazine and Album Network magazine. The first single, "Crumble", climbed to #45 on R&R's active rock chart as well as simultaneously charting on three different charts in Album Network magazine. The successes of these singles led to 13 months and 130,000 miles of intense nationwide touring which brought the band into nearly every major U.S. market as well as many markets in small-town America. Along the way the band has been invited to perform at many radio sponsored festivals and shows for stations such as WAAF (Boston, MA), WJJO (Madison, WI), KXTE (Las Vegas, NV), KXXR (Minneapolis, MN), WCCC (Hartford, CT), KLBJ (Austin, TX), KQRS (Springfield, MO), KDOT (Reno, NV), KRQS (Albuquerque, NM), WAPL (Appleton, WI), WRXF (Flint, MI), KQRX (Odessa, TX), KMJX (Little Rock, AR), WSTZ (Jackson, MS), WCPR (Biloxi, MS), KHTQ (Spokane, WA), as well as many others. The band also performed on NBC's "The Jenny Jones Show".

Aside from the gimmicks and the trends, one thing that will always have a place in the broader scope of popular music is straightforward, melodic songs that relate to the listener. That is the only kind of music that Big Bad Zero knows how to write and perform. The band is constantly writing and recording new material and touring regionally.
