Heavily influenced by electronica godfathers Jean-Michel Jarre, Tangerine Dream, Kraftwerk and Vangelis. 8 MP3 Songs ELECTRONIC: Experimental, ELECTRONIC: Techno Details: NSS stands for Noel Stefan Stoyanoff. NSS is a singer, songwriter, software and recording engineer, storyteller, producer, studio and live bassist for hire, DJ, cynic, human rights activist, music evangelist, music historian and collector. NSS suffers from work-a-holism, depression and his own damn ego. NSS loves music, reading, snowboarding, old movies and studying 8-Step Preying Mantis Kung Fu and Shyun style Tai Chi. NSS has put out four solo albums, manages three separate musical entities, runs his own record label (Baphomets Lounge), pioneered two Internet-based music television shows (RockstarPix TV Infinity Music Mag), toured throughout the US and Europe and continues to either produce or make guest appearances on a whopping fifteen and counting albums by other artists. NSSs musical direction is stylistically hard to pin down as he refuses to be categorized, bracketed, nailed down, pin pointed, shepherded or grouped. One would suggest, taking a little Frank Zappa, adding a generous portion of the Allman Brother's Band, throwing in a dash of Harry Chapin then mix thoroughly with the essence of King Diamond, chill, distill and serve with a slice of attitude on the side. NSSs new album (No Talent NecessaryNo Travel Required) is electronica, which differs vastly from his last album (Beat-up Old Ugly Cynical Live) which is solo acoustic, which differs enormously from his sophomore release (Have You Met Edna?) which is country/southern and we wont bother going into his debut album (Mr. Handpuppet Man Other Campfire Favorites) because its across the board and really doesnt make any sense. NSS is the real item, one of a kind, always provocative, certainly entertaining and assuredly never boring. NSS writes his own bio because hes a conceited, pompous, self-absorbed, controlling asshole.
