The guitarist (Peter Bergshnieder) and the vocalist (Joe Berg) went from jamming to co-writing original songs. The two performed at a few talent shows in Conecticut, only to realize that playing their own music is what they wanted to do. This desire sparked the flame that soon became Anchor Taxi. In their sophomore year of high school, they set the band in motion by finding a drummer (Matt Conover) and a bassist (Zak Starr). This elevated their ability and passion for writing new songs. The band began writing and playing new songs constantly untill just a few months after the formation of the group, several original compositions were completed. When they stumbled upon an opportunity to record, they tackled it. While recording the 11 track debut album, the members of Anchor Taxi were exposed to crutial elements of music production, which only enhanced their tightness. The original drummer (Matt Conover), left the band in September of 2003 to attend college. Not being able to perform did not stop their creative juices from flowing. In fact, it inspired them to further pursue their dreams. Joe, Peter, and Zak were prepared for a long process of interviewing new drummers, but unexpectedly clicked with the first drummer they played with (Zach Rosner). His skill and creative energy have elevated Anchor Taxi new a new level as they continue to write new material. The members of Anchor Taxi have been moldd by musicians such as Red Hot Chili Peppers, Martin Sexton, Incubus, Tool and Trey Anistatio. Their debut CD, of all original songs, is soon to be released. The band is entirely devoted to their music and thank all those who support them.
