And so we introduce to you, recording and performing artist Aubree-Anna, that very diamond in the rough waiting to shine, with a heart of gold and warm smile that invite you into her heart where she reveals the secret to her true beauty. Aubree-Anna is not only a gifted singer, but an accomplished painter as well, specializing in color and black and white acrylic paintings of multicultural people, with a passion for women, the elderly, and Africa. Her interest in entertaining and art started early, but it wasn't until her high school years that she really began to blossom, performing in plays, choir, and entering competitions for both Music and Art, winning awards and accolades for her work. For the last five years she has been training under Indie Label Crystola Records. This has allowed her to continue to grow in her writing (Aubree-Anna has written and copyrighted over 100 songs to date), recording, and performing skills, as well as personally and professionally as an artist. Something magical happens while Aubree-Anna is performing and because of this, her popularity and demand for appearances for both public and private events has greatly increased throughout the last three years, and it's no surprise when you review her Cover Tune song list of over 200 songs that is updated every week with new material, which includes World music (singing some in Hindi and some in Spanish). She has performed for art galleries, private parties, weddings, upscale restaurants and other venues, in Dallas, and the greater Metro-plex, and abroad, including the first ever Cowboys Alumni Association Gala, for the Dallas Cowboys, held at Texas Stadium, and featured and performed on the Main Chevrolet Stage at the 2006 State Fair of Texas.

Aubree-Anna has also been featured in the local Turtle Creek Newspaper, and in other promotional materials. Aubree-Annas refreshing sound, with a classic twist, sultry vocals and musical style, blends jazz, pop, alternative and soul. It reminds you of great artists like Sade, Norah Jones, and Celine Dion, but like all of these great singers she is unique. She has the ability to either deliver a song with a smooth and rich delicacy, or effortlessly ascend into a commanding and soulful explosion of emotions. Bare My Soul her first debut album, offers an escapesomething different from what you are used to hearing on the radio today. What a breath of fresh air, with songs that showcase wonderful piano melodies, captivating Spanish guitar riffs, and other distinct instrumentals and beats that just melt with Aubree-Annas vocals, together forming such a unique style and sound. From the fun energetic, Trust Love, to the passionately painful piece Broken, to the poetically free Layers of Me. Crystola Records partnered with Micaha Ajiea Ford with Ajara Ajiea Entertainment, a wonderful producer on the rise not afraid to experiment and create new sound, which is what they definitely hope to accomplish for listeners of Bare My Soul. All songs on the album were written by Aubree-Anna and both companies collaborated on the arrangements of the songs. I wanted to title the album Bare My Soul because its the epitome of what this whole album is aboutan exposure of who I am intimately as a person, not just as a performer. Its like that feeling when you expose everything to a person and say Here I am, will they accept you for what youve been through or what youve become? A lot of the songs were written from experience at the time of recording the album, and I really was honest about my feelings about love and life, both past and present from my life and others. Honest and thought provoking lyrics is just what you will hear throughout the album, like the self-medicating testimony of her life in the song Story, the sweet intimate sounds of Skin Therapy, the struggle and triumph in the song Breakthrough, to the sigh of relief on the last song Breathe. We feel that Aubree-Anna has not only the multi-dimensional creativity, but she has that it factor, a passion, dedication, exotic appearance, beautiful voice, and most importantly a smile that is addictive and an enjoyable personality that will give her staying-power in the industry. We expect for Aubree-Anna to be massaging our ears with her smooth vocals and wowing us with her talents for a very long time.
