Metal Details: Coiled has been a force in their local scene since their founding in November of 2000. Ever since their beginnings, the band has already taken their music to places that they never thought possible. They've played extensively throughout the Tri-State and New York areas, amassing quite a fan base everywhere they play. Their unique style of hard rock mixes raw emotion with driving energy that will make you truly feel the music. Released in September of 2001, "Window of Opportunity" is Coiled's first studio recording. Recorded and produced by Dion Paci, this album encompasses some of the band's best material up to that point. Clips of several of the tracks are available to the left.
