The members of Django's Cadillac combine elements of Swing, Jazz, Latin, Klezmer and Western Swing to create wonderful music that is enjoyed by everyone. Infectious rhythms and hot solos make Django's Cadillac one of the most original and enjoyable bands to come out of the Northwest since Pink Martini. The band consists of two guitar players, string bass, jazz mandolin and clarinet. Unlike most groups these days, Django's Cadillac is not built around one dominant player with a cast of supporting roles. The band members of Django's Cadillac are well known for their versatility and diverse strengths with four soloists, four composers and three vocalists. Appearing with the band occasionally is Kat Cogswell on vocals who is also featured on the self titled debut Django's Cadillac.
