Original audio horror stories with modern music accompaniment make scary movies for your head with bold, eclectic music for your ears. 5 MP3 Songs CLASSICAL: Contemporary, SPOKEN WORD: With Music Details: Take a trip with us to the darkest side of horror you can imagine! Award-winning film composer, Frank Macchia and Tracy London have created a new concept in terror, inspired by the classic horror radio shows of the past. They have created a series of short horror stories on compact disc combined with modern music and sound design, immersing the listener in an imaginative horrifying experience that is spellbinding! The artists who created Little Evil Things are Frank Macchia, a Los Angeles-based film composer and Tracy London, a screenwriter and actress. It's this perfect marriage of words and music that ultimately sets an effective and creepy atmosphere for these viscous vignettes. Frank's recent credits include orchestrations for the films "Superman Returns", "Eight Legged Freaks", "Xmen 2", "The Fantastic Four" and the "Apt Pupil". He collaborated with composer George S. Clinton on a Fox Network Horror Anthology Series called "Night Visions". Tracy London's credits include such feature films as "City of Angels" "Air Force One" and "The X-Files Movie".
