We want to Live in a world where things make sense again. We need global equality and peace to mean something, and we need our revolutions to not only ignite a movement of our making, but also to move something so deep and profound in us that we are ready to say, Yes, we will lay down our walls, weapons and projections of fear. We want to be part of creating this world. We need the primal Right to Life to be the Cause worth fighting for. It will make the difference between staying frozen in the terror of our world's disturbance and knowing we are evolving a deeper and more expansive creation of that Cause.
