There comes a time in human history when we must find solutions to survive ourselves. That time is now. The world needs a solution that can provide economic hope and stability with enough scale to have a meaningful and lasting impact. Micro Entrepreneurship is the only solution that can create enough jobs to make a difference. Micro Entrepreneurs buy and sell products, goods and services for themselves, from themselves and offer the same opportunity for others to do the same. This book offers solutions to help the direct selling industry grow bigger and faster. It is a step by step guide for individuals to build a business that requires very little or no money to start.
