Details: Archie Ray Oliver of Omaha, Nebraska is the Alphabet Mana person who is dedicated to helping young kids gain an appreciation for academic learning and responsible citizenship. Archie is a niche market performer who works with children ages 3-8. Oliver is married and has three children. He is a graduate of the University of Nebraska Lincoln (1983) where he majored in recreation administration and leisure studies. He was a 4th place all-American wrestler (167 lbs.) for the university in 1983. After graduating, he spent 10 years as a program director for the Edmondson YMCA. Archie received the National Thousand Points of Light Foundations Employee Recognition award in 1991. He is currently a co-owner of his own day care business, and the president of his own non-profit youth development organization known as the Progressional Multipurpose Center. Mr. Olivers writing and producing team of Dr. Franklin Thompson (University of Nebraska Omaha) and Pierre Harris (Louisville, KY) provide the artistic and technical foundation of the professional side of his musical efforts. As a hobby, Archie continues to experiment with the art of writing poetry and commercial advertisingan endeavor that is still in the developing stages. This new release entitled, Here Comes the Alphabet Man, takes Archies educational performance portion of his career goals to a whole new level. The product is being marketed as a maxi-single (3 songs) of educational messages set to an infectious R&B beat. Young kids gravitate to Archie when he announces, I am the Alphabet Man, and I am hear to educate and entertain you. He is a favorite at local daycares and after-school programs, and hopes soon to branch out and go nationally. The music is hot and Archies performances are genuine and effective. Archie is poised on the launching pad and ready to take off! Every daycare, preschool, and kindergarten program in America should have a copy of this product. It also makes for the perfect friendship, birthday, or Christmas gift for the little loved ones in your life. This collaborative product spearheaded by Dr. Thompson represents a new wave of childrens educational ministry: One that successfully merges music that is popular with young people of today to the various hooks and incentives that promote growth in kids. Here Comes the Alphabet Man is not geared towards the acquisition of higher learning skills, but rather it encourages basic learning in a way that makes kids feel that academics and doing chores at home does not have to be tedious and boring. The ultimate goal of this approach is to promote a love of learning and responsible citizenship. Stay tuned for future products that will expand Thompsons Selah Sound Childrens Ministry outreach (402-390-0653). _____ More about Archie Ray Oliver - Contact Information: P.O.
