Chill out - This 2 CD album comes with a double punch: The hottest R&B sound on CD 1 and the coolest Club Jazz on CD 2. The perfect combination to chill... 24 MP3 Songs JAZZ: Jazz Fusion, URBAN/R&B: Contemporary urban Details: It all started when D'Breeon was invited to Paisley Park (the studio belonging to Prince), D'BREEON laid down the track "Call HER" available on D'BREEON's internationally distributed album 'DO IT'. Now the former Stanley Jordan saxman and singer D'BREEON has stepped out again with the "FANTASY" Album, which delivers a double punch! This 2CD album sizzles with the hottest R&B on the 'Mysterious Lover CD'(1), and the coolest Club Jazz the 'Fantasy'CD(2). The 'Mysterious Lover' CD is a collection of urban stories about love, relationships and their complexities. The 'Fantasy' CD delivers soulful sax playing with the intellectual prowess of the Old-School masters combined with 21st century urban grooves. Experience the phenomenon, and see why D'BREEON is in Who's Who 2005-2006.. "...moves with the sexuality of Sade..." - EAR BUZZ "a collection of jazzy space-age soul" - Geoff Wilbur's Renegade Bio: The Chicago-born D'BREEON started playing the piano and saxophone when he was six years old under supervision of his mother, concert pianist Parrea Wilson. He continued his studies under renowned Jazz-bassist Richard Davis at the University at Wisconsin, Madison where he extensively played the local club scene and became well known as an energetic Pop singer and New-School saxophonist. He played with Stanley Jordan at a concert in conjunction with Stanley Jordan's promotional tour. At the same time, he composed and performed smash Pop-R&B jams with his band, the Dans. D'BREEON's work has been celebrated since he was part of the album project "MadScene" with his band called the Dans. . The "Madscene" album featured the song "DO YOU", written by D'BREEON who also sang lead vocals, which received excellent reviews. As a result, D'BREEON was invited to Paisley Park (The Artist Formerly Known as Prince's) recording studios to lay down the tracks that now appear on the DO IT album as "Call Her". Soon after graduation, he moved to Los Angeles to work exclusively in the music field. Here he performed in clubs like the Roxy and Gaylord in Beverly Hills, the Sidewalk Cafe in St. Monica, Downtime -NYC, Blue Note- Dresden Germany. He worked as an audio engineer in the Black Hole Studio as well as an independent producer with a variety of artists and labels. Chi Sound Records, DTA Records, Altar Records, Masonic, Quick Silver and Big Sound Records are some of them. D'BREEON definitely has the big city edge on his music. He released his first album "Gina" independently in 1995, his second "DO IT" is currently being released in Europe by Masonic Music/ Yaskin and is in negotiation with Party People in Japan for licensing. Dates for Airing the "DO IT" video have been secured on MTV Europe and Viva. A tour through Germany and several surrounding countries. The artist writes, records and masters all his tracks at his own studio at Big Sound Records. The multi-faceted "D" explored other aspects of the entertainment field as well. He appeared as a featured conga player on "The Mary Thomas Story" Disney feature as well as an understudy for Morris Day in the play "Lawd ha Mercy". D'Breeon has also finished performing in and producing "America Now International", a DVD show that is included with either the "Fantasy" or "Mysterious Lover" DVD Albums that features cameo's from Will Smith, Martin Lawrence, Herbie Hancock, Jamie Fox, Ben Vereen and many others. D'BREEON and his producer Bryant Michael Davis were recently inducted into the Who's Who in America 2005-2006 Directory. Press release provided upon request. Lately, you can also hear him as DJ on KWEST FM, the San Fernando Valley's Local Internet Radio Station at kwestfm.com.
