In November 2002, He released his first single, "Magnify". Two years later Dwain followed it up with his freshman album, "Sold Out To Jesus," a true labor of love. In his first full-length release, singer/songwriter Dwain Walters packs a unique blend of powerful praise and worship, reggae, dancehall and hip hop. The title of this original album is an effort put into practice in Dwain's day to day life as he currently serves as youth minister and choir director at the Church of God of Prophecy in Fort Lauderdale, Florida. Dwain has been very active ministering throughout the United States at local churches, banquets and concerts. As a songwriter, Dwain is a "Jamaica Arts and Cultural Development" award winner, having worked with the likes of Joy, Randy, Restoration Singers and Spiritual Voices. In pre-promotion of his recently released album, he has shared the stage with Stitchie, Junior Tucker, Marvia Providence, Prodigal and Joan Flemings. Some of these events gained live international media coverage. To date, four songs from this project have been on the EI Radio Networks Top 10 chart for an extended period. Select track are currently been played globally on heavy rotation by multiple radio stations.
