Fender Rhodes jazz-rock fusion trio 9 MP3 Songs JAZZ: Jazz Fusion, JAZZ: Acid Jazz Details: This CD is the fifth as a leader by Oslo based British jazz pianist/keyboardist Roy Powell and marks his return to jazz-rock fusion roots. The trio features the vintage sound of Fender Rhodes electric piano, together with Jazz/Rock/Funk fusion bass and drums. The CD concept includes a varied soundscape of warm grooving electric fusion and lesser used acoustic instruments such as acoustic bass guitar, melodica with a tinge of latin etc. Keyboardist Powell often uses three or more keyboard instruments simultaneously! Oh yeh! and he even plays trumpet on one track! Roy Powell studied piano and avant-garde composition at the Royal Northern College of Music in Manchester England before defecting to jazz. He first came to prominence in 1994 with his debut recording A Big Sky which was hailed as a real bench mark in British contemporary electric jazz by Jazz on CD. He then emigrated to Oslo, Norway where he collaborated on an album of free improvised music Holus which was described as an outstanding success by Jazz journal International. His next release as a leader- North by Northwest featuring Norwegian bassist Arild Andersen has also been a critical success as well as being selected as Best Jazz CD of 2001 by Amazon. Solace which was released in 2003 received lavish praise including 4 stars in Downbeat. His piece Bow Out has been performed by Oakland, Richmond, Cincinnati and Florida ballet companies and has had performances all over the globe from Japan, Australia, and USA to Europe and Scandinavia. His recordings have appeared in the Gramophone Jazz Good CD guide, Gramophone Classical Good CD guide, the Lord Discography, The new Grove Dictionary of Jazz as well as jazz magazines in Europe and the US and radio shows in the UK, Germany, Japan, Switzerland, Holland Scandinavia and the US. Per Mathisen - electric/acoustic bass studied bass at the prestigious Berklee College of Music, in Boston, USA.
