"We sound like a faux rock band at a swingin' cocktail party in some episode of 'I Dream of Jeanie.'"

60s-influenced modern Indie garage/pop/folk/psych. 12 MP3 Songs POP: Garage Pop, ROCK: Folk Rock

Details: With its genesis in Friday night intoxicant-fueled sing-alongs in Greg and Melissa Hosts living room, the band has grown into a nearly-unique 5 piece outfit which has been schizophrenically described as concocting 60s-influenced psychedelic indie garage pop with a touch of folk and surf or more succinctly, 'jangle pop.' "We sound like a faux rock band playing at a cocktail party in some episode of 'I Dream of Jeanie', explains principal songwriter and rhythm guitarist Greg B. Host. Combining jangly guitars, soaring male/female harmonies, modern electronic psychedelia, and marital angst, The Hosts are attempting to put their own spin on the 'Detroit sound.' Gregs simple melodies, love of 60s pop culture and tortured confessional poetry coupled with Melissas lyrical kick and sweet yet rough vocals have been impressing listeners both live and in cyber land since nearly the turn of the century. People who are interested in The Monkees The Shins Brian Jonestown Massacre should consider this download.
