She has always had a love of music even as a child; In Junior High she sang in the school chorus. She formed a Trio with her son Jimmy and her mother Laura and they called themselves Vicki Lee Company. Vicki will always cherish those two years of performing with them. Meanwhile she had quite a few fans who had discovered that she was a powerful performer with a "Golden Voice." In 1999 she met another talented performer by the name of Stevie Cee. They formed a Duet Act and called themselves Pop'N'Country. In 2000 Vicki and her mother who has a gift for writing decided to put her mother Laura's talent to music. Laura wrote the songs and Vicki came up with the melody. This was a very close and affectionate time for both mother and daughter. They decided to release Vicki's first CD naming it Touch Of Life. The very first song on the album "Let Me Not Weep" is dedicated to Vicki's father Charles E. Smith who passed away Feb. of 1995 of Lung Cancer. Vicki and her mother Laura have since won awards from DECMA and NACMAI. They received an award in March 2001 at Pigeon Forge, Tennessee. Mother and daughter received Songwriter of the Year Award at NACMAI for the song "Let Me Not Weep." September 11, 2001 will stay in our hearts forever; Vicki Lee's mother Laura Smith Vicki Lee were deeply moved with the loss of so many lives. Laura wrote two beautiful songs for her daughter to sing. The first one is called "Don't Let Us Fall" which Vicki Lee released as a single in March 2002 the song was named Patriotic Song Of The Year from NACMAI. The second song is called "Angels On Golden Wings." It's a song of tribute and love, one to console and inspire; 2002 this song received "Patriotic Song Of The Year 2002" from DECMA; also "2003 Patriotic Songwriters Of The Year" from NACMAI.
