Catchy, intelligent rock and roll with tons of vocal harmonies and a flair for the dramatic 13 MP3 Songs
ROCK: Folk Rock, POP: Power Pop Details: Mara Levi began her rock and roll career at the ripe old age of 19. She joined the indie-rockers, Kid Sampson as a song-writer, bass player and singer. Mara studied music composition at Amherst College as Kid Sampson began to take off. After a short tour of duty in New York City, Kid Sampson took a break, leaving our fair hero to fend for herself. Mara took her cue. She picked up a guitar and started moving. She currently resides in Washington, DC where her music has evolved into a catchy blend of her Folk Music roots, her Jazz Compositional training, and her Indie-Pop upbringing. Wielding her acoustic guitar, Mara's sound resembles a mix of Liz Phair, Fiona Apple, Alanis Morissette, and Aimee Mann - an explosive combination! Baltimore Out Loud recently reviewed Life's a Ball and had this to say: "...the perfect pop music inside spoke to me instantly. First of all, Levi's voice is a powerful tool, her musicianship is above par, and her songwriting gifts are considerable. A combination such as that has resulted in some of the most original and admirable songs I've heard in a long time." Mara has now been touring the country for almost a year in support of Life's a Ball, and will surely be coming to a town near you very soon! Unless you live in Alaska. It's very far away, you know. Visit maralevi.com/shows.html to see when Mara will be in your town!
