Details: A child of the Eighties, teen of the Nineties, clubber of the 2000s, and eternal lover of the 30s Naommon embodies-both musically and physically-a myriad of continually morphing influences from the spaceglam of Bowie, androgyny of Prince and acidfunk of Deee-Lite, to London's creative NagNagNag parties and New York's popping Downtown scene. It was Naommon's appearance on the French talent TV show, "Popstars" (similar to MTV's "Making The Band"), that sparked collaborations with hot electro producers Christophe Dallaca and Stphane Deschezeaux (Kiko Gino), resulting in several hot singles on International DeeJay Gigolo Records including "Jack The Box." Clubbing brought further introductions, bringing Naommon together with producers Fred Berthet and Arnaud Pilard the latter four of whom produced the collection of modern disco pop songs of "Love is struggling" Naommon fans include UK producer Mark Moore, queen of electro-soul Billie Ray Martin, Peter Rauhofer, electro cat Larry Tee, The Ones, and the brilliant Princess Julia. Naommon's "Love is struggling" has already two singles "Allnighter" and "You go to my head" videos now aired on MTV's Logo with "You go to my head" n1 of clicklist show! The videos, a digital only CD "booklet," loads of photos, gig schedule and much more can be seen at naommonor on myspace.com/naommon.
