----- It's a known fact that every great producer involved with Hip Hop starts out spinning records as a D.J. TK first expressed his love for the art form making cassette tapes for neighborhood friends. As his turntable skills evolved with mixtapes such as '31 Flavors' and 'Deviant Duties', TK felt an emptiness in playing other people's music. So in 1998 he released the compilation 'No Regrets', a premiere glimpse of his talents as a producer and artist. As TK's fan base grew, the Washington, D.C. native realized it was time to take his talents to the next level. Since then, hard work in the studio has generated nothing but classic cuts and unadulterated headnodders. Teaming up with longtime friend and fellow producer t.E.C.K! (Educated Consumers, ResiNation), five of these tracks were released in late 2000 as a promotional disc for the TK website: kaoskorner.com. This CD (Kaos Theory EP) has now been remastered and issued for sale as a precursor to the full-length TK LP. Album release date is tentatively set for Summer 2003 with the t.E.C.K! produced single 'We Don't Care' dropping in mid-February exclusively on 12" vinyl. When asked what his music means to him, TK answers, "It's an expression of my life in the rawest form. Tracks like 'Down 4 Whatever' and 'Live at the Lounge' are evidence that this kid can rock party anthems with the best of them. 'Take the Pain' is a positive, keep ya' head up song that expresses the emotions projected by this charismatic MC. Asked to elaborate on 'Nobody Move', TK states, "Warning: Let's leave it at that!" Combining in-your-face personality and the ability to create timeless music against a diverse backdrop of instrumental scenes, TK will show and prove to you he means business!
