It was started by Walter and Phil one day in late December 2006. They were swiftly joined in January 2007 by college friends and since have been picking up talented musicians who are nice enough to play with them for love of the music and just general goings on around. It was originally intended to be a show case for all involved and hopefully in the next few months, you, the viewers can make this come true. Everyone involved in this project is here for love of doing something slightly different at least thats what we hope.
