Details: Fern, the Stars and the Planets celebrates cultural diversity on an intergalactic scale, delivering musical messages about living in harmony and peace with our fellow inhabitants. Meet Fern Fern is a grown-up who never grew up and it shows---in the best possible way---through her music. Her lively, toe-tapping melodies captivate the young and the young-at-heart by proving the things we all know to be true: teddy-bears are essential, aliens are real (and theyre friendly!), the earth is a magical place, and, sometimes, the only pick-me-up we need is a little Irish jig. USA Today recognized her talent when they recommended her Christmas album nationwide; children showed their affinity for her by requesting her songs so many times that she became one of the most requested artists on The Playground, a well-known childrens radio program on the Boston station WERS; Wireless Flash News was inspired to feature her from coast to coast; and her charisma even persuaded Virgin Mobile to present her as the face of their 2004 ad campaign. A former dancer, pianist, and preschool director, Fern has drawn on her experiences and her degrees in education and music to develop original songs, stories, and interactive exercises that simultaneously teach and entertain children. In addition to performing live throughout New England, Fern has five CDs on the market: Kids! Dance With Fern! Kids! Christmas! Fern! Kids! Off To Dreamland With Fern! Fern, The Stars the Planets! and Hopping Into Easter With Fern. It should come as no surprise, then, that Ferns best friend is a 6-foot-tall chipmunk named Charlieher costume-character companion during stage performances. In Ferns own words, when shes on stage with Charlie she is in her element.
