Every member of THE FOURCE is a songwriter and likes to hear about their music. Some say we sound like the Traveling Wilburys, Jimmy Buffet, R.E.M., Grateful Dead or the Youngbloods. Let us know what you think. E-mail us or write a review on this site. Jerry Catalano is the lead vocalist and plays 12-string guitar. His passion is singing and writing songs. He has an excellent Karma which seems to positively influence the rest of the band and the writing process. Bob Kramer sings most harmonies and the lead on the song Five More Minutes. Bob plays guitar, mandolin, harmonica, keyboards, drums, and volleyball. Bob is a prolific song writer who also puts out an original x-mas CD every year. We used to be happy just getting together in Jerry's basement and sharing our songs with each other, then Bob came along. Joe Petti is the lead guitarist and electric rhythm guitarist. He is our wordsmith and master of the melodic guitar lick. Larry Donichy is the bass guitarist and backup vocals when held at gun point. He is the most organized member of the band, making sure progress is made in practice and that business and promotional issues are addressed. He also is the best at posing for camera shots (except when he's singing).
