Hot Styles and Fellowship. MOG brings a new sound to the Gospel scene with his new album. If you love hip hop, and you love Christ, then this is definitely the album for you. 11 MP3 Songs URBAN/R&B: R&B Rap mix, GOSPEL: Contemporary Gospel Details: MOG, born Sedrick Bolden, hails from Los Angeles, California an epicenter of creative quakes in television, film and certainly records and music. Relocating to San Bernardino County at the age of 4 allowed him and his family to experience first hand the vast and harsh differences of life in the heart of LAs Ghetto from life in heart of desert country. Having been reared in a Godly household, MOG has known of Gods undying love for the unbeliever and the believer alike since he was young. Of course praying grandparents always seem to help when going through tumultuous times and this was certainly the case in the Bolden household. At some point his entire household was going through great adversity to provide a positive influence for their children. Though this phase only lasted for some months the great residual effect on MOG was an unflinching commitment to Christ. MOGs first public performance experience came when his mom was working on her solo rap music career. She employed her son as the hype man for her act. It was through this experience that MOG garnered a love for the stage and an unquenchable desire to perform in front of crowds. Imagine at the age of 6 years old being trained to raise the enthusiasm of any unwelcoming audience. This training was only furthered by his performance experiences in church, which also spawned a love for vocal music. To creatively purvey the word of God in a way that addresses the needs of my generation, a generation that is hurting, dying and experiencing a real identity crisis made worse by the mixed signals given to us by every form of media, is one of MOGs stated inspirations for getting so heavily into the entertainment industry via records and music and the performing arts. An accomplished singer, lyricist, producer, performer, dancer (various styles), praise and worship leader, playwright, clothing designer and most importantly preacher and evangelist, MOG does not believe in the old adage Jack of all trades, Master of none. I believe that our love for Christ and recognizing what He has done in our lives compels me to work excellently in all things for the Lord and Savior of this world, notes MOG. MOG Divine Connection Records recognized the raw potential of this multi-faceted creatively anointed rap music artist and decided to invest in a partnership. This effort resulted in one of the most musically adventuresome record projects ever produced under the Christian music umbrella. Rip These Tracks (Way to Hot), produced by Dr. Dopenstaph, serves notice to all the Holy Hip-Hoppers that no creative discount should be needed to embrace the Hotter Than Hells Furnace record. More than anything else MOG cares about the souls of each potential listener and thus matches an undiluted message of salvation with an unquestionable musical aggressiveness.
