Dear Reader, If you are like most people, you probably began your adulthood believing that you were going to be a success at whatever you chose to do. It's a sad testimony to the world we live in, but you probably also learned very quickly that wishes and wants were the work of child's play; and, that they had little to do with what you reap in "real life." It's a pattern that occurs all too often. When we are very young our every want, wish and need are usually provided by loving parents. Most parents do a good job of giving their children everything they want. We're not saying that is good or bad, just a fact. Once we leave the comfortable womb security and strike out on our own we discover that reality is a whole different ballgame. Oh sure, we start off thinking we'll conquer the world but all too soon we discover that the world is conquering us! Unfortunately we also become habitual destroyers of our own wants and wishes. Those dreams of success all too frequently manifest into nightmares of reality. Ask yourself these three questions: 1. What if there were a way to turn it all around? 2. What if you were able to recover a new enthusiasm and zest for life? 3. What if there were a way to dare to dream again? Well, you can and it's much easier than you may think. How Do You Recreate Success In Your Life? Okay, since you are reading this it's a pretty good bet that you may be familiar with self-help information. In fact, you may have even read a few motivational books on the subject. And, while most of those authors are very well known and icons in the industry of motivation, how often do you see others actually change their lives as a result of reading them? Not very often, I'd wager. Why do you think that is? Are the principles not sound? Of course they are. Is the content faulty? Not at all. Well, then what is the problem? Usually, the problem is . . .are you ready. . .belief! It's easy to believe that Zig Zigler achieved success. And who doesn't know that Carnegie was able to win friends and influence people - he was Carnegie after all! No one disputes that Tony Robbins has no trouble with success! So what's the problem with you? You've never been able to believe that YOU can do the same. Well, we're here to tell you today that you CAN! You just need to believe it. How do you do that? Where do you get that kind of knowledge? Glad you asked. You need our handy little guide called "Success Within YOU." and some of the best parts are . . . * It isn't written by a self-help guru. Its very easy to read. * It doesnt require much time to find out what buttons of your own you need to push. * Cost of the guide is minimal you'll laugh at the price! Everything is there to help you understand that you CAN do this. The very fact that a regular guy just like us has been able to achieve his own level of success is reason enough to jump at this chance to learn how you can do it too. Take a look at what you'll uncover: Learn how to avoid your comfort zone. Find out how to work less and accomplish more. Discover why you should embrace problems. Feeding your fire and more!
