Introducing the Video Clip Websites Builder Script!!! Again, you really dont want to compete with the big video hosting sites. What you really need to do is focus on building several topic related (niche) video sites. Lets imagine you are like me, and love fishing - maybe you even already have a fishing related website. Imagine FTPing a few files to your web host, running a program in your browser, answering a few questions, and clicking a button to create a multiple page, fishing video clip website - its really that easy. The best part is, you dont ever have to update the site. Whenever new fishing related videos are posted on YouTube, your site will update with the latest videos automatically, and the search engines love sites that are updated often. Since the videos on your niche video pages are actually stored and run from YouTube, you get the benefit of displaying the videos, but you dont have to pay for the video disk space or bandwidth. Each website and each web page is search engine optimized, based on the video clips being viewed. Each webpage contains Google AdSense code strategically placed for maximum click throughs. However, you are not limited to AdSense advertising. You can modify the Advertising Blocks to advertise anything you want. Maybe a few affiliate products related to your topic, perhaps a banner to your main site, or you could even charge a monthly fee to others who want that ad block space. Each page contains Web 2.0 Social Bookmarking code to allow your visitors to easily bookmark and share your webpages with others. Each page contains a link, you specify, in the footer of the page, and you can change it at any time. This will create traffic to the link you specify, plus incoming links - search engine food! Imagine easily adding video to any websites you currently own - your visitors will love it and the search engines will love it. Adding niche related video clips will increase the value of your web real estate and generate more repeat visits. Imagine creating unlimited new sites, or adding video pages to your current sites, with each site taking one to two minutes to create. Lets say you it takes you 5 minutes total to create a new video website, or set of new video pages. It should take less than 5 minutes, but well use 5 minutes in this example. In just one hour per day you could create 12 sites per day. So, if you spent one hour per day building video sites, for 20 days in your first month, that would be 240 video sites after your first month. Now lets assume each site averages only 30 cents per day, that would be $72 per day, or $2160 per month. The next month you could build more sites, or work on getting more traffic to your current video sites. Imagine your income growing as your virtual web real estate continues to grow.
