ELECTRONIC: Ambient, ROCK: Folk Rock Details: Ashley Cox is a diminutive powder keg that explodes with positive energy. A multi-dimensional performer, singer, songwriter, and ultra talented musician whos been composing innovative and wide-ranging material for the past 12 years, Ashley certifies her prominence with the release of her much anticipated sophomore album, Honey By The Pound (HBP). Since 2000, Ashley has been touring coffee shops, clubs and festivals all over the eastern and mid-western United States in support of her much acclaimed debut album, As Above, So Below, and has most recently captivated the London underground. In addition to keeping a stable presence in the live music scene, she has been steadily at work writing, composing and producing Honey By The Pound, a bold spirited musical expression that is simultaneously an expansive and complete demonstration of Ashleys quality. Articulating her musical spirit through mindful verse, acoustic electric guitar, piano, ethereal vocal symphonies and various electronica, Ashley has woven a tapestry of rhythm and emotion that takes the listener on a beautiful journey into the evocative world that intercedes Ashleys real life experience and creative genius. HPB is an hour of phenomenal musicianship that travels to places vast and near, never stagnant or formulaic. As the name suggests, Honey By The Pound is simply abundant and delicious. Ashley Cox has an intrinsic gift of verve, which delivers passionate music that flows at once like a raindrop and tidal wave, always immersing her listeners in absolute honesty and intensity. Her unique sound has led her to perform with the likes of MeShell Ndegeocello and The Fun Lovin Criminals, while sharing production time with Russ Titleman, who produced Eric Clapton's Grammy award winning Unplugged CD. She has also graced the stage with such budding talent as Dana Kurtz, Seth Horan, Peter Mulvey, Tru Mystic, Jane Siberry and Ember Swift. Never one to gather dust, Ashley actively supports the Syracuse, NY music scene by developing new opportunities for emerging musicians and artists as an independent event producer, promotions diva and former musical Director for ThINC, a regional not for profit arts organization. She is also mentoring her beautiful daughter Chloe in the finer points of creative self-expression. The writing was on the wall back in 1997 when she won the Syracuse Area Music Award (SAMMY) for Best New Artist. Nearly a decade of hard work later, her endearing spirit, sound and smile have given her access into people's hearts and souls; Honey By The Pound aims at taking her to the top.
