Mix one Beatles' Blackbird, a dose of folk, a pinch of bluegrass gospel, airtight 3 part vocal harmonies, pepper with flute, fife, mandolin and hammered dulcimer; serve with a satirical slug of Cold Lone Star Beer for this deliciously satisfying meal. 13 MP3 Songs FOLK: like Ani, COUNTRY: Country Folk Details: Like its namesake bench in Alice's Restaurant, Group W brings a solid foundation of instrumental musicianship and vocal harmonies to the forefront of this, their debut recording. Presenting a pleasing variety of folk, bluegrass, gospel, contemporary rock and original songs in each performance, Group Ws female and male vocal solos, 3 part vocal harmonies and instrumentals has been delighting audiences in their short time together. Lisa Wildmans singing varies from sweetly melodic to country twangs from her native Texas; her classical music training shines on flute, fife, and guitar. Dave McCullough displays his roots in rock and blues on guitar, mandolin, and his fine baritone voice. Saverio Minicucci showcases his versatility with his lyrical tenor voice, electric bass, guitar, and hammered dulcimer. From Bluegrass to the Beatles, traditional and original folk, sometimes country, sometimes gentle, and even the satirical political commentary of "God Bless America, Cold Beer to Go," you will hear a captivating variety of styles and moods. "A very authentic sound with well-crafted guitar, mandolin and flute work. Lisa's voice is in refreshing contrast to the girlish hiccups of the pop world. It is rich but not heavy, precise but still somehow floating. I was transported to a place where beautiful words meet beautiful sounds, and the spirit soars." If you've never heard it, Sleepy Hollow is a great show and a relaxing way to ease into your weekend. It isn't always soft or slow, says Chuck Elliott who has hosted the show since its beginning.
