The Unthinkable perform an eclectic range of songs in the vein of Warren Zevon and Randy Newman. From the outlandish "Love's A Strange, Strange Thing" to the pop style "I Got My Heart Out" the Latin rhythms of "Soul Devotion" the hard rock of "Smokin' In The House" and the ethereal "Perfect Imperfection", Ken Clark's compositions are musical short stories peopled by an odd array of characters confronting the bizarreness of ordinary life. His lyrical arsenal includes humor, sentiment, menace, and general weirdness, all of which he blends in his distinctive way. Contributing to the CD are long-time collaborator Dr. John M. Williams on percussion and Robin Treadwell on vocals and saxophone. Sometimes funny, sometimes heartbreaking, The Unthinkable display a wide range of original songs which are surprising to hear and musically interesting.
