Beautiful and whimsical piano ballads about beautiful famous women. 17 MP3 Songs POP: Piano, POP: Brill Building Pop Details: Look out! If you're famous, Papa Razzi and The Photogs are going to write a great song about you. There's nothing you can do about it. It's just something that comes along with being a celebrity. In this album, Papa Razzi sings odes to seventeen beautiful women. He begs some of them to go on dates with him. He begs one of them to marry him. And he compliments them all. These songs may seem like mere novelties at first glance. But once you've heard them a couple of times, you'll start to realize that Papa Razzi isn't just singing about beautiful famous women. What he's really singing about is the way these celebrities make an impact on millions of people who have never even been close to them. This album is for anyone who has ever found themselves falling in love with an actress on the big screen, a beautiful tennis player, a popular singer, or a DJ's voice on the radio. There is something special and strange about celebrity--especially nowadays. And Papa Razzi hits the nail on the head. This is a brilliant and beautiful album that ultimately serves as a great examination of fame from the point of view of the unfamous masses.
